OYSTER BUDS SHOULD NET STATE $500,000 REVENUE

In Letter to Representative Well Informed Person Makes Plea for "Investigation" With Money

A member of the house of representatives has received the following information from a man who has been devoting much time and study to the oyster interests in Connection and who favors a searching inquiry into the taxation of oyster properties:

"I presume it has not escaped your customary vigilance that the resolution now before the assembly calling for an investigation of the oyster interests are investigation of the oyster interests."

The following figures concerning assessments are from the official records, and are typical of the great majority of large holdings:

"Lot No. 717, mortgaged for $10.000, and probably worth $20,000, is assessed at $4,122. Its real value is approximately supposition is to be carried to the floor of large holdings:

"Lot No. 717, mortgaged for $10.000, and probably worth $20,000, is assessed at $4,122. Its real value is approximately $100 an acre (basing it on the mortgage,) but its owners pay taxes on a sworn valuation of $40 an acre.

whis subject that I have learned at the subject that I have learned at the state and. They lead me to say unheatistingly that most of the effort to defeat the measure comes from parties who would he large gainers by succeeding, although some of it comes from conscientious people who do not apparently, understand the real situation and have been led to believe the specious cry that this is only an effort to create jobs for two or three gentiemen.

"The industry now represents a capital of about $1,000,000, with an annual product of about $5,000,000. The plant and business of one man alone is estimated to be worth close to a million. Tet there are over 450 steamers and power boats, manned by upwarfs of 1,000 men, are engaged in the trade "All the revenue the state darkes from this large, prosperous, and growing industry is about $12,000 a year."

"On the other hand, by way of comparison, the state of Rhode Island, with cyster beds only one-fifth of oursine extent, receives about $10,000 are, with atministration expansed of about $5,000 a year."

The oyster men who have been geting off so easily for twenty years nave raised the cry that our beds are not so valuable as those of Rhode Island, But it remains the fact that they keep on adding to their holdings have a proper supported and extraction, and exting wealthier by it.

"The free cyster beds not only pay the supported with this plan for as a proper way."

not been experimented with 68 per cent. of the peaches rotted. Mr. Hale cald that it cost him as much to grow one peach as it did to grow the other but on the trees that had been experimented with he got a much bulkier and a better peach. He said that last week the peaches picked from the trees that had been experimented with sold for $3 a crate in Georgia.

Moose Hill, says that Connecticut peaches will be in market about August 10, that by August 20 they will be in in abundance and that the Connecticut grop this year will be as fine a peach grop as was ever sold.

Mr. Hale told something of the valuable work that the United States department of agriculture is doing. He partment of agriculture is doing. He said that there had been considerable work that there had been considerable and tailing to display his license number and the light on the rear of his machine. He pleaded FRED J. ELANDER, Prop.

partment of agriculture is doing. He said that there had been considerable troubis in Georgia by peaches rotting because of the early spring rains, that Secretary Wilson had made some experiments and that what had been accomplished was worth $50,000,000 to this country. Mr. Hale said that he had consulted Mr. Wilson about having experiments tried on a large scale in his peach orchard in Georgia and he had offered to stand one-half of the experiments were tried on the Elberta peaches on some trees on one side of Connecticut avenue in the orchard and on the opposite side of the avenue there were some trees which were not experimented on. In addition to overcoming the rot the specific in the peaches were overcome and the peach that had been experimented with was more than twice the size of the other peach shown and was as perfect as a peach could be.

From the records kept by the men from the agricultural department but 1 per cent. of the peaches on the trees that had been experimented with had rotted, while on the trees that had been experimented with had rotted, while on the trees that had
